

This structured wiring bracket is an efficient and effective distribution solution for your home or small office audio/video/telephony/control system. Ideal for small systems in homes and apartments, the smaller size also makes these brackets ideal for sub-system breakpoints within your home theater or distribution system.

This bracket is single module width, and includes a high-impact, wrap-around cover. It accepts our structured wiring modules, and has been designed to accommodate other common modules as well. Ideal for subsystems such as IR distribution; surface-mount only.
